CIS: two exceptionally important commercial successes in Russia

In Russia, where the Group has been operating for nearly 30 years, its local subsidiary ACS has just won two exceptional commercial successes.

The first, with a very large mining group, concerns the management of a remote site of around 7,000 residents during the construction phase of the infrastructure of this copper and gold mine.

This contract, for a minimum of 4 years, is located near Magadan and therefore near the Arctic Circle, in an area where climatic and logistical conditions are extreme.

CIS' reputation, expertise and presence in this area were the reasons for the choice of this client.

This success is also the result of a perfect collaboration with this customer in several countries.

The second project concerns oil production operations for one of the largest Russian oil companies.

This contract covers the management of 50 separate sites in central Russia and represents 30% of its oil production with a rotating population of 20,000 residents.

This success is a major new milestone given the unique scale of the challenge that CIS will face.

These two new contracts, which will start in early 2022, represent a strong positive impact for the CIS Group and confirm its strategy.
