CIS wins several strategic contracts in Africa, South America and Asia

The CIS Group, a world leader in the management of remote site, announces the signing of strategic contracts in the Democratic Republic of Congo, Chad, Mongolia and Brazil. These successes reinforce the Group's presence in its historical markets and confirm the renewed confidence of its clients operating in demanding onshore and offshore environments.

In Africa, as part of international calls for tenders, the Group renewed two major contracts: a first in the DRC on behalf of one of the world's largest copper and cobalt producers, in the province of Lualaba, and a second in Chad for the national leader in the energy sector, alongside which CIS has been positioned as a reference partner for over 20 years.

In Central Asia, CIS announces the signing of a new contract in Mongolia for the management of a remote site dedicated to the operation of a gold and silver mine under extreme climatic conditions.

In Latin America, the Group is consolidating its development on the private offshore market in Brazil by signing a strategic contract strengthening CIS Brasil's position as a key player in the Brazilian offshore sector.

These new contracts combine catering, housekeeping and facility management solutions tailored to the operational constraints of sites located in particularly remote areas.

Recognised expertise in extreme environments

For 34 years, CIS has been designing and delivering services focused on operational performance and sustainability, backed by a range of innovative solutions (Smart4you). These new commercial advances illustrate the Group's ability to :

- Guarantee a high level of service quality,
- Ensure the safety and well-being of on-site teams,
- Propose logistical solutions adapted to isolated environments,
- Provide long-term support to customers through social and environmental commitments.

A significant contribution to the Group's growth

These contracts represent a business volume of $53 million and are fully in line with the Group's international development strategy.

About CIS

CIS, founded in 1992 by Régis Arnoux, Founder and Chairman of the Group, manages remote base camps around the world, in the most isolated onshore and offshore environments. CIS supports major players in the energy, mining and construction sectors, as well as institutions and governments, at every stage of their projects.

As a service integrator, CIS offers turnkey solutions to bring well-being, comfort and conviviality to all its residents, allowing its clients to focus on their specific activities.

The Group is committed to the sustainable development of the countries in which it operates, by recruiting and training its employees, forging partnerships with suppliers close to its sites and getting involved in local societal initiatives.

CIS adopts a proactive approach focused on innovation and continuous improvement to reduce its impact on the environment. The Group works every day to improve its practices and ensure transparency.
